

Toronto Shelter Occupancy

The plots below show the weekly average number of children, women, men, and individuals present in families that occupied Toronto's homeless shelters from 2017 through 2020. While the number of homeless children, women, and men remained constant over this period, the number of families steadily increased, reaching a peak in early-2019, followed by a slight decline in the fall and winter.

